

2006 Occupational Therapy Workforce and Compensation Report

BY AMERICAN OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY ASSOCIATION

CD-ROM

Based on AOTA's statistically rigorous Workforce Survey, this essential report gives the detailed picture of today's occupational therapy workforce and key insights into important issues and trends.

- Presents overall compensation and specific benefits for full- and part-time occupational therapists and occupational therapy assistants
- Details work setting profiles, including academia, hospital (non-mental health), mental health, long-term-care/skilled-nursing facility, schools/early intervention, home health, freestanding outpatient, and community
- Describes work setting snapshots, practitioner profiles, education and experience, main areas of responsibility, hours worked, overall compensation and specific benefits, and more
- Looks at fieldwork supervision and at direct client treatment metrics, including documentation responsibilities.

The report is also contained on a CD-ROM for ease of use!

The Occupational Therapy Assistant: Resources for Practice and Education

CD-ROM

EDITED BY TERI L. BLACK, COTA, ROH, AND KATHRYN MELIN EBERHARDT, MAED, COTA/L, ROH

For the past 50 years, occupational therapy assistants have provided valuable service and contributed to the expansion of the profession. They have built on their roots in mental health and geriatric practice and are now in a vast array of settings, such as skilled-nursing facilities and schools.

This book is ideal for occupational therapy assistant students and practitioners, providing timely resources for quick, accurate answers to questions about roles, responsibilities, and supervision. It also includes a collection of regulatory and reimbursement information, standards, guidelines, and language designed for both occupational therapy assistants and occupational therapists. An excellent guide for students preparing for their careers and for practitioners in helping to facilitate ethical, legal, and evidence-based practice.
